Outskirts: the Heart of Mission

We have for some time been in the month of October, a ‘missionary’ month, a ‘strong time’ when we are called – in a totally special way – to know, to study, to meditate and to live the mission of baptism-mission, to refine our sensitivity towards men and women who through their frailties and their needs call us to a renewed and more convinced form of nearness, starting with the theme that accompanies us this year – ‘Outskirts: the Heart of Mission’!

This year in particular our – at time soporific – missionary thinking has been shaken by the tragedy generated by the Ebola virus which is causing thousands of victims, above all in the continent of Africa but which in recent days has also been making its presence felt in Europe. Together with these victims there are men and women who in the darkest corners of the world live in inhuman conditions, risking their lives every day. And many of them die. One of the most recent was the missionary Manuel García Viejo (a religious of the Fatebenefratelli), a victim of the voracious and fatal Ebola virus which is draining the blood from the innards of Africa. He died in Madrid after returning to his country from Sierra Leone where he had directed a hospital. A few months before that another priest of the same religious Order had died – Miguel Pajares.

They were ‘prophets and Samaritans’, men who were the travelling companions of other men, lamps which lit up dark areas of the world where oblivion and hopelessness seem to be the masters; religious faithful to their consecrations, but also qualified health-care professionals, as they were defined by their Superior General at the funeral of Brother Manuel García Viejo.

There comes strongly to mind the homily with that tearing fund of questions posed on 7 March 2014 by Pope Francis at the Holy Mass celebrated at Casa Santa Marta: ‘The most difficult fasting is the charity of goodness such as that practiced by the Good Samaritan who bent over the wounded man... I know how to caress the sick, the elderly, children, but have I lost sight of the meaning of that caress? Am I ashamed of the flesh of my brother? Our perfection, our holiness is linked with our people where we are chosen and become part. Our greatest act of holiness relates to the flesh of our brother and the flesh of Jesus Christ. Our act of holiness today... means not being ashamed of the flesh of Christ which comes here today! This is the mystery of the Body and Blood of Christ. It means sharing our bread with the hungry, taking care of the sick, the elderly, those who can’t give us anything in return: this is not being ashamed of the flesh! When I give alms, do I drop the coin without touching the hand (of the poor person, beggar)? And if by chance I do touch it, do I immediately withdraw it? When I give alms, do I look into the eyes of my brother, my sister? When I know a person is ill, do I go and visit that person? Do I greet him or her with affection? There’s a sign that possibly may help us, it’s a question: am I capable of giving a caress or a hug to the sick, the elderly, the children, or have I lost sight of the meaning of a caress? These hypocrites were unable to give a caress. They had forgotten how to do it.... Don’t be ashamed of the flesh of our brother, it’s our flesh!’

INDIA

Fr. Baby Ellickal, the Vice-Provincial of India

Some volunteers of CTF-India have left for Kashmir, a region in the northern part of the Indian sub-continent between India and Pakistan, because the continual periods of rains and subsequent downpours had led to the breaking of banks of rivers and streams, creating extensive flooding. The water level rose by about 25 metres, 200 people lost their lives, 23,000 people were evacuated and almost 16,000 need immediate help. At least 2,5000 villages have been completely cut off and cannot be reached. The diocese of Jammu and Kashmir with the Jammu & Kashmir Catholic Social Service Society and Caritas India is actively involved in aid operations. The prompt help of CTF-India will help to meet the immediate needs of the areas that have been hit and to reduce the suffering of our brothers and sisters.

We thank Fr. Baby Ellickal, the Vice-Provincial of India, for this information.

TAIWAN

St. Mary's Nursing College in Lotung

Fr. Giuseppe Didonè from Taiwan informs us that on 22 September they reopened the school of St. Mary's Nursing College in Lotung. This year is the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the school by Fr. Aldo Antonelli in 1964. For this reason the beginning of the school year was preceded by a series of events intended to involve the staff and the community.

On 13 September a meeting for the new teachers was organised where the meaning of the concept of a Catholic school was explained to them, with the style of service of Our Lady being taken as a point of reference. On 15 September there was the blessing of the new statue placed at the entrance of the school dedicated to Our Lady. On 16-17 September sixteen new groups of students visited the school and this was an opportunity to give a number of lectures on the spirit of St. Camillus as a nurse and as a model for care for the sick. On 23 September, for the first time in the history of the school, the national meeting of all the heads of Catholic schools in Taiwan took place.

Father Didonè commented on the beginning of this new season in the following way: 'I express appreciation for the approach of our college, from the point of view of pastoral care as well. On 26 September, when the classes had been organised and the various texts distributed, the Holy Mass of the beginning of the year was organised with the participation of the staff, about a hundred employees, and representatives of the various groups of students. I reminded them of the proverb which says that 'he who begins well is already half way there' and the Chinese proverb which declares that the 'root of happiness is to do good to other people!'. To help in the religious activity, there are also a Camillian sister and two lay women.

SUPPLEMENTS AND CURIOSITIES

Our Lady of Health

DECEASED RELIGIOUS

“See, now they vanish, the faces and places, with the self which, as it could, loved them, To become renewed, transfigured, in another pattern” (T.S. Eliot)

Fr. Floriano Castelli

Father Floriano Castelli (the Province of Italy) was born in Casale Monferrato on 30 March 1930. On 24 April 1951 he was admitted to perpetual profession. On 29 June 1954 Father Floriano was ordained a priest at the hands of the Bishop of Casale Monferrato Giuseppe Angrisani. Padre Floriano was on a number of occasions a provincial financial administrator and a provincial councillor and from 1960 until 2012 he was also the local financial administrator of Villa Lellia. Father Castelli loved the Province, Villa Lellia and dedicated the whole of his life to them. He demonstrated capacity and experience in the economic and administrative field. A humble person, discreet, very human, and ready to help, of few words, apparently not very sociable, in reality Father Floriano was a sensitive, tender and welcoming person. He died on 17 September 2014.

The Camillian Province of Ireland and England has informed us about the death of their religious brother Fr. William Rose.

‘Now they live in Christ whom they met in the Church, followed in their vocations, and served in the sick and the suffering. Trusting that the Lord, the Holy Virgin our Queen, St. Camillus and our deceased religious brothers will welcome them in their midst, we commend them in our prayers, remembering them with affection, esteem and gratitude’.
