The Incorrupt Heart Relic of St. Camillus Visits La Paz Parish Anew

— Maria Carmela D. Aquino

Friends of the Sick of the Lay Camillian Family is neither an amulet nor a charm that possesses power because only God has the sole power to give grace to the people and cure the sick. The relic can be a way by which God draws people near to Him.

Many people came to our parish church to venerate the heart relic of St. Camillus, fervently hoping that their petitions would be heard and granted by God through his intercession. The people said that they felt like St. Camillus was in their midst when they venerated his relic.

Youth members from different organizations and the parishioners joyfully came together to give a warm welcome to the heart relic. Much preparation was done to ensure that the visit would be peaceful and successful. Prior to the arrival of the heart relic, several meetings were held so that the visit will be orderly.

On the first day of the visit, youth members from different organizations took charge of the security of the heart relic during the procession from St. Camillus Poly-clinic to the church. Fr. Bon Arimbuyutan, the Camillian vocation director, presented the life of St. Camillus to the people who filled up the church. The Holy Mass followed to formally welcome the heart relic. Fr. Jose Eloja, the Provincial Superior of the Camillians-Philippine Province,

After six years, the incorrupt heart relic of St. Camillus de Lellis returned to the Philippines on Feb. 2, 2019. From the airport, the heart relic was brought straight to Our Lady of La Paz Parish in Makati City. Our parish was indeed grateful, fortunate and blessed for the heart relic visited us a second time and stayed with us until Feb. 4 when after the 6:30am Mass, it was sent off to visit different cathedrals in different dioceses and hospitals nationwide. The journey of St. Camillus' incorruptible heart relic will last until March 31, 2019.

A relic can be the physical remains of a saint or his personal belongings. It is preserved for purposes of veneration, of remembering the good deeds of the saint. It

We are grateful to the Lord for giving us the opportunity to be visited again by our founder, St. Camillus de Lellis, through his incorrupt heart relic. This is a special blessing and privilege for us in the Philippine Province. It has been six years since the last journey of the heart relic in the Philippines. At that time, it stayed only for over two weeks. However, in this second visit, it is staying for a longer period—two months. The incorrupt heart relic of St. Camillus arrived in Manila on Feb. 2, 2019 and is going around the Philippines until the end of March 2019. With the presence of the heart relic in our midst, we are reminded by St. Camillus, as he often repeated to his brothers, "to put more heart into those hands" in caring for the sick.

"The heart relic of St. Camillus draws its meaning from the heart of Jesus, a 'burning furnace of charity' as we say in the litanies of the Sacred Heart. Without reference to the heart of Jesus, we could not explain the extraordinary charity itself of St. Camillus: 'a charity that proceeded from God and returned to God through love of neighbour, especially of the sick in whom Camillus saw the image itself of his Lord.' " (www.camilliani.org, posted by Ufficio Comunicazione, 27/05/2016). Here lies the foundation of our Camillian spirituality: seeing Christ in the sick and seeing in us the image of Christ by the sick.

As we venerate the heart of St. Camillus, let us also open our hearts to be educated in order to become more loving, forgiving, compassionate, and merciful especially in dedicating our lives taking care of people who suffer. This is what is attested to and recommended to us by the heart of St. Camillus, a heart which was molded and transformed by the merciful heart of Christ.

presided over the Mass with our parish priest, Fr. Renante Sentillas, and other Camillian priests concelebrating. Public veneration followed after the Mass.

The next day, Sunday, a Mass for the sick was celebrated at 9:30am followed by the anointing of the sick. The Friends of the Sick of the Lay Camillian Family helped hand-in-hand to gather all our sick brothers and sisters to attend the Holy Mass, be anointed and venerate the relic.

During the intervals between the regular Sunday Masses from morning til evening, the relic was made available for public veneration and after the last Mass in the evening, public veneration lasted for two hours more. On the following day, we celebrated a farewell Mass.

We truly had an amazing experience when the heart relic came. For the youth members of the different organizations and all other church workers, the event provided an experience of unity as each one of us performed our assigned tasks. We also felt that the many people who flocked to La Paz were one in their desire to feel the grace of God through the heart relic of St. Camillus. All in all, we felt inspired to do our best to dedicate our lives to the service of God through our brothers and sisters, just like what St. Camillus did when he was still alive. We were also moved to ask God to transform our hearts into a repentant heart, a caring heart, a healing heart, a compassionate heart and a holy heart.

In December 2018, a marker in honor of the late Fr. Antonio Didone was unveiled at the new staff dormitory building near St. Mary's Hospital Luodong led by Frs. Giuseppe Didone, Giovanni Ricci, Henry Angupa II and Br. Paolo Han.

On Nov. 21–23, 2018 the CPHDO attended the 2nd Spring Rain Global Asian Philanthropic Development Conference held at Holiday Inn, Bali, Indonesia. Different PDOs (Philanthropic Development Offices) around Asia joined the conference to gain new insights on philanthropy and to strengthen the PDO Ecosystem. Potential donors were also invited so they could learn more about each PDO's advocacies.

On the opening day, Dr. Victor Gonzaga, OSA, talked about the "Spirituality of Philanthropy." After him was Fr. Aleksander Gaut, SVD, who had everybody laughing because of his funny stories while discussing "The Philanthropy Mission among Non-Profit Organizations in Asia and its Sustainability." Mr. Philip Tan, the chairman of Wellmade Motors and Development Corporation gave his perspective on "Philanthropy as Corporate Social Responsibility." Dr. Glenda Antonio and Fr. Francis Lucas were also speakers for the day as they discussed "Leadership Philanthropy Management" and "Communications in Philanthropy Management," respectively. Fr. Bernard Holzer, AA, ended the day with a workshop on the participants' learnings.

On day 2, "Philanthropy through Peace and Racial Harmony" and "Philanthropy Models" were discussed by Mr. Norazani Shaiddin, Spring Rain Singapore's Director, and Dr. Rob John, a specialist in Philanthropy and Social Entrepreneurship. Mr. Vincent Lim, Fanfare Global's CEO, then discussed a topic foreign to most of the participants, "Cryptocurrency." That night, the delegates mingled over dinner while celebrating donor-donee relations. New PDOs for year 2018 were inducted and were given the chance to introduce their PDOs.

On the 3rd and final day of the conference, Fr. Rodriguez Salazar, SVD and Sr. Niceta Vargas, OSA, posted a challenge to establish a strong PDO network. As the last speaker, Mr. Philip Cheng, a business consultant, talked about how to sustain a development office. The ceremonies ended as the delegates sang the Spring Rain Global hymn, "Bridging Hopes."

PAKISTAN: Camillians moving... to Pakistan?

Fr. Luigi Galvani, MI

Pakistan with a population of 210 million people is considered the second biggest Islamic country in world. The Catholics are only 1% (2,100,000) distributed in seven dioceses.

The religious congregations are limited in number but committed: in education with several schools, in health care with medical institutions and in the media with some Catholic TV stations.

Among them are the Capuchins, Dominicans, Augustinians, Jesuits, Salesians and others. The vocation promotion is encouraging with positive cooperation between the religious and the dioceses regarding formation program for the candidates. In fact, there are only two major seminaries in the whole country: one for the candidates in Philosophy, which is located in Lahore, and the other for theologians in Karachi.

Recently, new hopes were raised for the Camillians to be in Pakistan. Historically, the dream of a Camillian presence in the country started about 18 years ago (2001) when Fr. Rino Metrini from Thailand was invited by an Italian Dominican missionary to supervise the construction of a small hospital in a village in the town of Okara in the diocese of Faisalabad.

Although Fr. Rino remained for only six months, he did not miss the opportunity to promote the Camillian seed. In fact, in that short period of time, three young people were sent to Manila for Camillian training and formation.

Unfortunately, the small seed remained "dormant" for quite some time. Luckily, in 2011, two positive events awakened the Camillian dream: first, the ordination to the priesthood of one of the three people sent to Manila, Fr. Mushtaq Anjum, and secondly, the creation of an active Lay Camillian Family group.

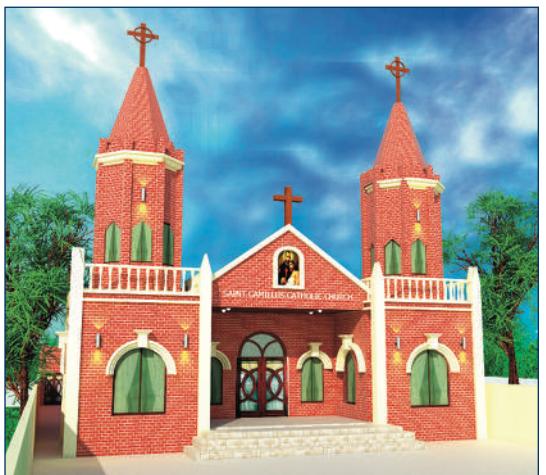

Providentially, other positive and encouraging signs developed for a concrete presence of the Camillians in the country. These were reported by Fr. Luigi Galvani after his recent visit to Pakistan on Sept. 11-17, 2018.

During these days, Fr. Luigi had some positive encounters; among them, he met the representative of the Bishop of the Diocese of Faisalabad, the rector of the Minor Seminary of Faisalabad and some superiors of religious congregations (Dominicans, Capuchins and some congregations of sisters). He also had a friendly telephone call with the new Cardinal Joseph Coutts of Karachi who strongly invited the Camillians in his diocese.

Even the director of the Catholic TV Pakistan of Lahore was very supportive and organized an interview that was aired in the TV channel with Frs. Mushtaq and Luigi talking about the Order and the work of the Camillians in the world.

Another positive news was the blessing of the cornerstone of the first church in honor of St. Camillus promoted by a young parish priest in the diocese of Faisalabad. This is certainly another blessing for a future Camillian presence in Pakistan.

Encouraging also was the meeting with the 30 members of Lay Camillian Family. They showed great enthusiasm, good-will and dedication for their ministry especially in visiting weekly the sick and the old people in their homes and hospitals.

The members expressed also deep joy and gratitude to the General Committee of the LCF for the invitation to participate in the international meeting of the LCF in Rome that was held last October 2018. They felt that this was recognition of their apostolate and a great encouragement for expanding the Camillian ministry in other areas of the country.

After all these positive events, what could be the plan for the Camilians in Pakistan? Vocation promotion and formation remain a priority step to be taken.

The encounter with the novice master of the Capuchins in Lahore was an encouragement on this matter. The Capuchins at present have 38 young professed in Philosophy and Theology, 6 novices and a good number of candidates in the Minor Seminary. Similar news was heard from the Dominicans and congregations of sisters.

Thanks to the presence of our Fr. Mushtaq, there are already two young people (aged 21 and 23) who have completed their college studies and are willing to join the Camilians.

At the moment, since there is no possibility to have a Camillian community there yet, the best solution could be to send them to the Philippines or to Indonesia in order to prepare them to be future missionaries in their own country.

In the past, similar experience was done for a group of young Indonesians who, after their formation in the Philippines, returned and now are the foundation of the promising Indonesian Delegation.

Certainly, such proposal has to be discussed and evaluated by the Provincial Council of the Philippines in cooperation with the Indonesian delegation so that a positive and concrete solution could be taken in the near future.

With prayers and hope, may the dream of St. Camillus to see his institute reaching all the countries of the world could become a reality even in Pakistan.

2019: The World Day of the Sick in Maumere

Fr. Mushtaq Anjum, MI

The Camillian Delegation of Indonesia celebrated the 27th World Day of the Sick with two significant celebrations:

a) The first, on Sunday Feb.10, 2019, in the public hospital of the city of Maumere where the Camilians are rendering pastoral care services. During the celebration the Camillian seminarians, novices, and scholastics together with chaplains shared the joy and good news of love and compassion to people gathered in the chapel of the hospital dedicated to St. Camillus. More than 200 sick received the sacrament of anointing in the chapel and in the different pavilions of the hospital.

b) The second, on Friday Feb. 15, 2019, in the cathedral with the presence of Bishop Edwaldus Martinus Sedu, who presided the concelebrated Holy Mass. It was the first time that such celebration for the sick was held in the cathedral. The choir of Camillian seminarians animated the liturgy with inspiring songs especially during the administration of the sacrament of anointing of the sick, which was received by more than 300 sick people. It was also nice to see the participation of many religious congregations, especially sisters, who congratulated the Camilians for the well-organized celebration and for being inspired in knowing more about the charism of St. Camillus and his deep love for the sick and the poor.

LCF-Pakistan Shares Joy on Jesus' Birth

Fr. Mushtaq Anjum, MI – LCF-Pakistan Spiritual Adviser

OKARA—Christmas brings joy to the whole humanity and especially to Christians. The LCF-Pakistan, under the leadership of Ms. Asia Aslam and other members, organized an outreach Christmas program and distributed small gifts among the poor and sick people in different areas.

And this Christmas 2018, the LCF-Pakistan helped Mr. Maand build his house. The family saw the intervention as fruit of their answered prayers. The LCF expresses gratitude to the benefactors, especially Fr. Luigi Galvani, for his great help.

Mr. Aslam visits the family of Mr. Maand, bedridden for 12 years. The LCF helped build his fallen house for which the family is grateful.

Ms. Asia Aslam, the president of LCF-Pakistan, visits a man on dialysis.

Quarterly Activity

Discounts were given to Camillus Medhaven elderly residents when they went to the Ayala Malls Marikina Heights last January 12, 19 and 26. Going to the mall is part of their quarterly outdoor activities. From 1pm to 4pm, they went grocery shopping, had their hair done at the salon and later ate at Bonchon with their caregivers and assistants.

Valentine's Day

One of the traditions during Valentine's Day is to give a card to our loved ones. So on Feb. 14, 2019 at 3pm, the residents were tasked to make a Valentine's card for their family. While they were busy making the cards, Ms. Eira Jateco and Nurse Dhiana Joyce Dejucos serenaded them and gave them roses. A simple snack was served after the activity.
